

THE EN ROUTE FOUNDATION ON THE PROTECTION OF MINORS AND VULNERABLE ADULTS

PREAMBLE

The En Route Foundation is a Canadian non-profit organization whose goal is to sustain the work of the Catholic movement Communion and Liberation in Canada. This Protocol (hereinafter referred to as the “Protocol”) is aimed at members of Communion and Liberation and employees, members, volunteers, and directors of The En Route Foundation in Canada. This Protocol supplements civil and Canon laws.

The certainty of Christ’s presence in our lives and in His Church here and now, no matter our historical and cultural situation, makes it possible for us to face with a healthy realism and humble truthfulness, even though full of pain and shame, the acts of sexual abuse that have been committed by members of the Church.

The terrible wave of evil that has drawn even Christian communities into scandal has gravely wounded the psychological and physical well being of persons and planted rotten seeds of doubt regarding the method God chooses to communicate Himself to humanity. Our very capacity to communicate the faith is also threatened.

Those situations which have inflicted “deep wounds of pain and powerlessness, primarily among the victims, but also on their family members and in the larger community of believers and nonbelievers alike” must not only be “prevented from happening, but must also” be addressed by a culture that “prevents the possibility of their being covered up and perpetuated” (Pope Francis, “Letter to the People of God,” August 20, 2018). This Protocol has been created with suitable flexibility to allow for training and preventive and precautionary measures adapted to the various environments and cultural and historical circumstances in which members of Communion and Liberation in Canada are called to live their Christian vocation. At the same time, the provisions of the Protocol must be understood as part of an effort of subsidiarity, in that they do not replace, but supplement related protocols in Canadian dioceses so that such protocols might be concordant with the experience and unique identity of Communion and Liberation.

The Protocol is presented as part of an active collaboration with the various diocesan offices and the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops not only as concerns investigations and trials with respect to individual cases, but also as concerns participation in training and prevention programs as well as programs for treatment and healing offered by local dioceses.

The following, then, is stipulated with the full awareness that “a continuous and profound conversion of hearts is needed, attested by concrete and effective actions that involve everyone in the Church,” and with the humble conviction that “this becomes possible only with the grace of the Holy Spirit (...), as we must always keep in mind the words of Jesus: ‘Apart from me you can do nothing’” (Pope Francis, Vos estis lux mundi, Introduction).

NATURE AND SCOPE OF APPLICATION
